Women's day:

More than 500 people visited the first Bristol Women's Show at Bristol City's Ashton Gate stadium. Organiser Caroline Sparks billed the event as "everything a woman wants or needs". There were promotional stalls for life coaches and lingerie, business advisers and beauty therapists. Visitors could buy jewellery and order clothes and even seek help with sexual health problems. Above, models take part in the fashion show. Left, Kate Johnstone, from Spin City Pole Fitness in Clifton, demonstrates acrobatics on a pole.
